"WHAT MAKES SO MANY TRAMPS?"

The tramp question is becoming an important one in this country. During the past three or four years they have multiplied many fold, and this year they swarm the country and are responsible for many of the murders and attempted murders, robberies and other crimes which are daily being committed. Why this "surplus of idle hands?" is a question on which politicians do not agree. The Democratic press and Democratic orators tell us the Republican party is responsible for the "hard times," and hard times produce tramps, and tramps commit crimes, and consequently the Republicans are responsible for the crimes committed. If you press the point and ask how the party becomes responsible for all our financial ills, for our lagging industries, and for so much idleness, or rather so many men seeking employment and finding it not, they say because the Republicans are in power! They can offer no other reason, than that—a reason which completely fails to satisfy any one who seeks to know the real cause of the present business distress. The Greenbackers charge the financial difficulty to contraction, and many of the Democrats also, take up the cry.

The crisis which began in the fall of 1873, was certainly not caused by any contraction of the currency. It was in plain words, brought on by over-production and fast living. The war had inflated prices. People lived in unexampled extravagance. The destruction created by war gave the first impulse to "enlarged production and increased the demand and enhanced the price of everything. People were rushing headlong on a broad gauge little thinking of the collapse which could not be long delayed. There was no industry, whether in the mines, or in the shops and factories, that was not being over-done. The country could not sustain that unparalleled prosperity. There was at last an over-production of almost everything, and a check was absolutely inevitable. No party, no legislation could avert it, and in the autumn of 1873, the crisis came.

The consequence was that thousands were thrown out of employment. The mines, the mills, and the factories had produced far beyond the demands of the country. It became difficult to sell, prices rapidly declined, and stagnation was seen on every hand. There were more miles of railways built during the four years preceding the panic than in any fifteen years in the history of the country. There were more coal mined, more lead and iron produced, more gold and silver obtained, more machinery built, and more dry goods manufactured from 1865 to 1873, than in the twenty years preceding. Money was plenty and thousands were driven into wild speculation only to be hurled into the financial vortex.

This was the cause of hard times. The country had produced beyond the capacity of the people to consume. It was not contraction of the currency, nor class legislation which brought about the financial disaster of 1873, nor which filled the country with tramps. In 1862, the entire circulating medium of the country, gold, silver, and paper, was only $35 millions of dollars. Greenbackers should remember this, and they should also bear in mind that in 1870, when times were flush and the people were prosperous, the circulating medium of the country, not including gold and silver, was $81 millions of dollars. But in 1873, in the midst of great depression, the circulating currency amounted to over $700 millions besides nearly 200 millions of gold and silver. Contraction, for there has been none, could not have caused hard times. Class legislation, from which we have been exempt, could not possibly fill the country with tramps. No other causes than those of over-production, wild speculation and prodigality in living, have forced "honest and willing labor to beg its bread."

The Burlington Hawkeye come out bold for Grant and Wilson in 1880. Wilson would do, but if Grant is nominated he will be credited to Illinois, and of course Iowa could not have the Vice Presidency.

Barrows, of Chippewa Falls, late Speaker of the Assembly, who was so modest when he was elected Speaker, has become quite a politician, and is now a candidate for Congress on the Greenback ticket.

The largest corn-grower in New Hampshire has twenty-four acres. He is the king of the State, and the people of the old Granite State look upon him as a man of marvelous enterprise.

A man named Andrew Nagle, about thirty years of age, committed suicide on Sunday, by hanging. He performed the deed while the family were at church.

THE GETTYSBURG.

The Cruise of the United States Steamer Gettysburg.

London, July 2.—The Herald correspondent in Malta telegraphs that the United States steamer Gettysburg reached Benghasi, a seaport town of Barca, in Northern Africa, situated on the Gulf of Sidra, 420 miles east-northeast of Tripoli, on the 15th inst. Since her arrival 700 soundings have been taken, and several important discoveries have been made. These discoveries are chiefly in the nature of dangers to navigation in the Gulf of Sidra, the discovery of which will be of the greatest advantage to navigators. All on board the Gettysburg are well.

The public debt was increased over two millions of dollars during the month of June. Why? Congress!

A Just Tribute to the Jenkins.

Some men are born great, some achieve greatness and some have greatness thrust upon them, but Captain Jenkins seems to have got his by marriage. A number of women play between Washington City and other parts of the United States, but over them all we cheerfully accord the horns to Mrs. Jenkins.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

FROM MADISON.

Special Dispatch to the Janesville Gazette.

MADISON, July 2.—R. M. Bashford, of this city, has been appointed as Clerk to the committee to superintend the printing of the Revised Statutes. Mr. Bashford is a good lawyer, formerly an editor of the Madison Democrat, and will perform his duties faithfully and well.

The narrow gauge railway running from Galena, Illinois, to Platteville, via Benton, has suspended business. This will be a great loss to the farmer living along the line of the road. The cause of the trouble is charged to Platteville. That town voted aid to build the road, and after the line was completed refused to give the aid unless the company did certain things which were onerous and altogether unreasonable.

The French Government is getting generous and merciful. Over 1,200 Communists have been pardoned or have had their punishment commuted in honor of the Exposition fete. But, the Government went further than this. The poor of the city have been kindly remembered by having 40,000 francs distributed among them.

The Milwaukee Sentinel: Another Ohio Democratic county treasurer has defected to the tune of $65,000. During the last few years the defalcation of Democratic treasurers in that State have amounted to $350,000, with some for amounts unknown. Ohio wears the belt, with Wisconsin a good second.

The Chicago Post was sold yesterday to the proprietors of the Daily News, including presses, type, good-will, subscription lists, &c. The price paid was $16,000. For some time the paper has been burdened by a heavy mortgage from under which it could not work.

The committee agreed in secret session this afternoon to certify Baker over to the courts for refusing to testify. The committee has that power when Congress is not in session.

SUSPENDED.

The Galena & Southern Wisconsin
Narrow Gauge Railroad Suspends Operations.

GALENA, Ill., July 1.—The Galena & Southern Wisconsin Narrow Gauge Railroad, connecting this city with Platteville, Wisconsin, has brought its rolling stock to Galena, discharged its operatives, and suspended business. The discouragement which the Company have encountered cannot be numbered. The people of Platteville, as an inducement to build the road to that city, voted aid, and after the line was in operation, refused to pay it over until certain onerous and unreasonable conditions were complied with. The Company completed ten miles of their extension to Wingville this summer, and the people of Platteville obtained an injunction restraining them from operating it, claiming that the extension, according to the terms of their contract with the Company, was to have been built through that village. The Corporation has been harassed by suits. Their liabilities are large and pressing, and a general collapse is looked for. A meeting of the bondholders is to be held in this city to-morrow to consider the feasibility of foreclosing at once.

THE CHICAGO CROOKEDNESS.

Chicago Whisky Cases in the United States Court.

CHICAGO, July 1.—In the United States

Court this morning the ten first-batch whisky cases and the nine second-batch cases were submitted in brief to Justice

Harlan, of the Supreme Court, sitting as judge.

The first batch of cases were those against the so-called "squealers," because of their turning state's evidence.

Blodgett, district judge, decided that the suit for the condemnation of crooked whisky claimed by them must be dismissed; on an appeal they came before Judge Harlan.

In the second-batch cases the whisky men asked that the suits against them for taxes on crooked whisky be dismissed on the ground that by agreement with the revenue officers they pleaded guilty in the criminal courts because it was promised that all other suits against them should be dismissed. These cases involve in all about half a million dollars, and arose out of the Bristol whisky raid in 1875.

THE PINKSTON STORY.

Mr. Albert Longley's Statement Concerning the Pinkston Story.

CINCINNATI, July 1.—Mr. Albert Longley, who acted as stenographer for the Republican visiting statesmen at New Orleans, was interviewed by a reporter today in regard to the affidavit of T. Wharton Cullens, Jr., who reported for the Democratic visiting statesmen at New Orleans. Mr. Longley says he has no recollection of the conversation referred to by Cullens. He remembers distinctly making search for Mr. Sherman that night, and under the impression he did not find him. There was no action of the Republican visitors while at New Orleans that led him to suppose they looked at the Eliza Pinkston matter as anything but a terrible reality.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 1.—Russell Wheeler, who shot Theodore Henderer on the 26th of June, had a preliminary examination to-day, and was held for trial at the July term of court in $10,000.

Reading Agate Print by a Light Half a Mile Off.

New York Tribune.

An experiment was made last night with the electric light by Arnoux & Hochhausek at their office, at Howard and Center streets. The apparatus is a modification of the machine used in Paris, but the firm claim it is simpler, cheaper, and equally effective. The light, of course, as in all these machines, proceeds from the combustion of carbon points, between which powerful electric currents pass, and the difficulties in the practical use of the light are here, as they have been everywhere, two-fold: First, the difficulty of dividing the current so as to give separate light, when wanted, in the same room, or in different rooms, from the same machine; and, secondly, the difficulty of securing such a steady combustion of the carbon as shall prevent flickering. The machine may be used for lighting offices and stores, or it will serve for illuminating an entire park or stretch of seabach.

Last night the apparatus was placed on the roof of the Howard street building, and the face of the lantern was turned about in a quarter circle until it was directed toward the Tribune building. The sweep of this vivid ray of light, as if a gigantic dark lantern had been suddenly turned upon the east side, furnished a novel spectacle, and attracted much attention. The light brought out the roof of buildings in strong relief as far as the East River, and described the arc of a huge circle on its way down town. Finally it was focused full upon a north window in the eighth story of the Tribune building. The effect of the light is peculiar. It seems to lack all the element of heat, and the color given by the flame of ordinary gas seems to be absent. It is an unusually light, and tends to all the objects which fall within its scope a strange, bluish cast. When in full focus the light was so powerful that solid, nopal-matter and even agate could be read with ease. When it is considered that the source of the light was exactly a half-mile distance from the Tribune building, the power of the light may be understood.

An Important Function Stimulated.

The kidneys exercise most important functions, which are so wearisome that they tax to the utmost the strength and endurance of these busy little organs. Every breath, every pulsation of the heart, every movement of a limb, every thought, makes waste and necessitates the development of new atoms. The used up particles in the blood are sifted from it and dissolved in a watery fluid by the kidneys, which then discharge this fluid into the bladder. A train of disasters to the system would follow if these "ashes," so to speak, were not thoroughly strained off and discharged. This is the case when the kidneys become inactive. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, by restoring their activity, not only keep open a most important outlet for impurities, but prevent diseases of the kidneys themselves, which when inert become liable to fall a prey to diabetes, Bright's disease, nephritis, albuminuria, and other maladies specially incident to them, which, although not specially rapid in their progression, are particularly obstinate and fatal.

CHARGED WITH PIRACY.

An Arrest and the Reminiscences of the Rebellion which it Awakened. From the Boston Globe.

Henry A. Parr, who arrived in this city Monday afternoon, from St. John, New Brunswick, was arrested by United States officers, on a warrant for murder committed during the cutting out of the steamer Chesapeake, while on her passage from New York to Portland, December 5, 1863. The passengers numbered seventeen and the cargo consisted of 100 bales of cotton valued at $40,000, shipped by Frank Skinner & Co., for us in mills in Maine, for whom they were agents, and $10,000 worth of sugar, owned by parties in Quebec.

On Sunday the passengers took possession of the vessel in the name of the Confederate States of America, shooting the second engineer and throwing his body overboard, putting the captain in irons, and seriously wounding the chief officer, whom they compelled to assume command of the vessel, with orders to make Halifax. In a very short space of time the news of the crime came to this port through a friend of one of the pirates, who was cognizant of the contemplated scheme.

Several United States steamers were sent in pursuit of the pirates, who when last seen were steering for the Provinces. The steamer Ella and Anna proceeded to St. John and ascertained that the captain and crew, with the exception of the first engineer, whom they retained to work the vessel, had been landed on Partridge Island. At this place Captain Looke, alias Parker, who formerly commanded the privateer Retribution, joined and took command of the Chesapeake, with the notorious Henry Braine as first, and Parr, who was one of Morgan's men, as second officers. The Ella and Anna succeeded in capturing the Chesapeake, which was being apprised of the arrival of the cruiser, with the exception of the three, succeeded in escaping. The vessel was taken into Halifax by the Captain and delivered to the authorities. The prisoners were rescued by the citizens, and although caught and tried some time afterwards, escaped punishment. The Admiralty court subsequently returned the vessel to her owners. The pirates succeeded in separating and became scattered all over the world. A short time ago information had been received by the government that Parr, who it is alleged, took an active part in the seizure and was living in the Provinces, would be in Boston on a short visit, when measures were taken to secure his arrest, as above stated. His case has been continued until the 5th of July next.

The Doctor's Certificate, Head It.

ASSEMBLY, WASHINGTON CO., ILLINOIS, Jan. 14, 1878.

Dear Sir.—I take the pleasure of writing you a short note to inform you that I have been a sufferer with the Dyspepsia for over forty years, and have had the Dyspepsia for over six months, and have tried everything given up to date, and did not touch my case. I saw your Vegetine recommended to me, and am now, and am very well, and never had a relapse since. I would kindly recommend to try it for the benefit of their health, and it is excellent a blood purifier.

By Dr. T. C. DeLois, M. D.

MRS. WM. H. FORBES.

VEGETINE.—When the blood becomes lifeless and stagnant, either from change of weather or of climate, or from any other cause, the Vegetine will renew the blood, carry off the putrid humors, cleanse the stomach, regulate the bowels, and impart a tone of vigor to the whole body.

—Mr. Charles A. Carter, of Johnston, returned from the East, to-day, where he had been visiting since last December. Most of his time was spent among the hills of New Hampshire. During the past two months he staid in Boston, which he regards the pleasantest city in the country.

—Samuel Clark, of Fond du Lac, a former well-known resident of Janesville, was in the city to-day enroute for Michigan, where he will take up his residence. He has one brother, H. O. Clark, living in Detroit, and another, Fred Clark, at Battle Creek, both of whom are also known to our citizens.

—The young people of the Congregational church will give a matinee of the "Mistletoe Bough," at Lappin's hall next Thursday afternoon, July 4th, commencing at 3 p.m., prompt. Admission 10 cents to any part of the house. The evening entertainment will also be held as already announced.

—It is now claimed that a man in Milton says he was the fellow who tried to buy cartridges in a store in Juda, the night before the Ohm murder, and that it was not Ohm's son at all. If this is so it will be a strong point toward clearing the son from the network of testimony which seems to be about him.

—At Beloit, last evening, Booth M. Malone, a member of last year's graduating class of the College, was married to Miss Allia M. Bennett, daughter of A. Bennett, a large number of friends being present at the residence of the bride's parents. Prof. Blaisdell, assisted by W. F. Brown, performed the ceremony.

—In our Circuit Court to-day the case of Tyrell vs. Borden attracted attention, it being a contest over the title of the Williams house property. The land was sold under a mortgage held by Borden, and Tyrell claims the right of redeeming the same. The case is rather a complicated one, and embraces several issues.

—The Trinity Episcopal church is being wholly renovated and repaired. To day the ladies are sewing the new carpet. With new pews and fresh paint, the church will be greatly improved. The new pastor, Rev. Mr. MacLean, will commence his work the third Sunday in July, by which time the church will be ready for occupancy.

—The young people of the Congregational church will give an entertainment at Lappin's hall the evening of July 4. The Mistletoe Bough will be presented with due scenic effect. A good musical programme has been arranged, and ice cream of Riley's best make will be on hand. The admission is only a dime. The affair will be worthy of a most liberal patronage. Don't forget it.

—The Midgets are to be in Milwaukee for one week commencing July 8. They are without doubt the smallest people in the world. The troupe consists of General Mite, aged 13, weight 9 pounds, Lucia Zara, aged 14, weight 4½ pounds, Admiral Dot, aged 20, weight 40 pounds, Jennie Quigley, aged 25, weight 32 pounds. They are drawing crowds and creating a great furor wherever they appear.

—To-night Rev. Joseph Cook will deliver his last lecture in the Northwest, and the Congregational church ought to be filled to overflowing. His reputation as an orator is such that he needs no commendatory remarks. His theme is one which will interest all, and as this is the last chance to hear him it will doubtless be improved by all who can. The tickets are only half a dollar including reserved seats.

BELOIT COLLEGE.

An Able Address Last Evening by Miss Francis E. Willard, Before the Archaean Union.

The annual address before the Archaean Union of the college, was delivered in the Presbyterian church last evening to a crowded house. After a vocal duet by the Misses Clark, the president of the Archaean Union, Mr. W. S. Jeffris, of Janesville, introduced the speaker of the evening, Miss Francis E. Willard of Chicago. To endeavor, or to give even an abstract of her address would do injustice to the rare grace, delicacy and beauty of her thought and expression. The following brief outline must suffice.

The speaker, in her introductory remarks made various pleasant allusions to her youthful recollections of Beloit College, when, every year, from her home twelve miles up Rock River, she came with her father to commencement; which was then the great day in these parts. She also spoke of the college and subsequent life of her lamented brother, O. A. Willard, late editor of the Chicago Evening Post.

The address was a spicy and intensely enjoyable sketch of a sunset visit to the great Pyramid and the Sphinx; interspersed with happy hits and graceful allusions, and not without passages of great beauty and earnestness.

The address closed with an elegant and earnest appeal for a higher Christian devotion in all. The lecture was such as a Beloit audience has seldom listened to. Miss Willard made the impression on all as a true, noble woman, and a lady of the finest culture.

MILTON COLLEGE.

An Able Baccalaureate Sermon by President Whitford—His Theme, "Unbelief."—The Iduna Lyceum.

College chapel was more than comfortably filled on Sunday evening by those who were anxious to hear the Baccalaureate sermon. After music, anthem, "Now let the gates of Zion ring," by the college choir, Rev. Mr. Loomis, pastor of the Congregational church, offered prayer. The choir then rendered an anthem, "His merciful kindness," and Rev. O. A. Whitford presented his sermon before the class of '78 and their friends. The following is a synopsis of this practical and talented production, which is pronounced one
